

ADVANCE PRAISE FOR INSPIRATIONS FROM THE BENCH

“Kelly’s recount of winning a Big Ten Championship and the stories that go along with developing a team is a good read for sports fans and those who want to be inspired to give back to the community and nation. Good luck with the book and the idea of giving back to youth and seniors through Spirit & Sport.”

—Coach “Tubby” Smith, Head Men’s Basketball Coach, Texas Tech

“It is obvious you have a passion to help others. I applaud you for your efforts in training youth and connecting them to seniors. I want to wish you the very best with your efforts. It is an excellent idea and I hope you are amazingly successful.”

—Coach Mike Krzyzewski, Head Men’s Basketball Coach, Duke University

“To parents and all those who believe faith and family is vital to America, Kelly Scott’s vision of Spirit & Sport is inspirational! It is a unique and needed blending of young and old. Kelly offers insight from his own experience and expertise, motivated by his love of faith and family. A winning combination that can’t be beat!”

—Mary Ann Kubarski, Mother of 13 and Founder of ProLife Across America

“Kelly Scott looks for the good in others. This book and this project do that also. There are many funny stories and warm memories that are shared in this book. This is Championship reading and a wonderful opportunity to get involved to help youth and seniors!”

—Jay Pivec, Assistant Coach, University of St. Thomas

“Kelly Scott takes the reader on an inspirational journey with the Minnesota Golden Gophers and their pursuit of a Big Ten Championship. Eventually this journey leads to his dream of helping young people become true champions through “Spirit & Sport”. I have been an educator over 40 years and I know the importance of helping young people reach their fullest potential. Kelly strives to meet this challenge.”

—Craig Vana, Former School Administrator, Minneapolis Public Schools
